The Indian War in Oregon .- Letters from he seat of war, published in the Oregon Statesman, give a more accurate account of the hostilies than have yet reached us.

General Joseph Lane writes, Anguat 25, to General Joseph Palmer, Indian superintendent: "Sir, yesterday myself, and the men under my command, had a fight of four hours with the Rogue River Indians in the most dense forest in this part of the country. Our loss was three killed and four wounded. Those dead are Captain Armstrong, of your county, a Mr. —, and Francis Bradley. Those wounded are Colonel Alden, dangerously; Charles Abbe, do.; and William Fisher, badly. Thomas Hayes, shot through the arm; and myself, through the shoulder. There were eight Indians killed, and about twenty wounded.

"In the afternoon a proposition came from the enemy for a parley, which was granted, they being in such a position that they could not be dislodged without the loss of a great many men.

"To-day we have arranged terms with them, and have agreed to meet them at Table Rock, in seven days from to-day, to make a general treaty, and your presence is imperatively required as and your presence is imperatively required as soon as possible."

Mr. W. G. T'vault writes to Mr. Bush, August

21: He states that the loss in the fight of the 22d August was, killed, J. Shane; P. Keath, Frank Perry, A. Douglass, A. C. Colbyrn, and Lockting; wounded, First Lieutenant Fry, shot through the wrist; John Albin, James Carroll, and Zebulon, all slightly.

The following particulars are given of the great

The following particulars are given of the great battle of the 24th:

Colonel Alden was badly wounded the first fire; also, Pleasant Armstrong, of Yamhill, was shot through the breast, exclaiming as he fell, "A dead centre shot." The battle continued, raging with great fury. The yells of the Indians, the howling of dogs, and the sharp, continuous crack of the ritles, lasted about an hour, when our packed train arrived, and furnished ten more. General Lane, at the head of those ten, followed down the trail to the battle ground, and with brave determination. arrived, and furnished ten more. General Lane, at the head of those ten, followed down the trail to the battle ground, and with brave determination ordered a charge, leading himself. When he arrived near the camp, he received a wound through the right arm. The battle continued for about four hours, and the Indians called for quarters or a parley. When finding that General Lane was there, they insisted on his coming into their camp. The old hero, although pretty badly wounded, and suffering much, immediately went into the Indian camp, (or fortification, for it was represented to be a stronger place to charge than Chepultepec.) and had a talk with Sam, Joe, and Jim.

An armistice was agreed upon for a short time. We buried our dead, and in a short time Colonel Ross, with his command, arrived, and a general treaty was talked of, and an armistice with Joe and Sam was agreed upon for seven days, at which time they were to meet General Lane and give up their rifles.

Shocking Affair.-The Petersburg Express, of Saturday, has the following: We received at a late hour last night the particulars of a revolting affair which has just trans-pired in the county of Sussex, on the same farm lew months since occurred. From all we have been enabled to ascertain, it appears that Mr. Henry Birdsong, whose little son was killed by his side, and himself dangerously wounded a few months since, so cruelly whipped and beat one of his negroes on Tuesday night last that he died in a few hours. Mr. B., a gentleman informs us, had given orders to his negroes that they were to report themselves to him at his dwelling every night at an early hour. On Tuesday night last they at an early hour. On Tuesday night last they failed to do so, and upon one of his boys coming into the house to get his, Birdsong's shoes, to clean, he was called to account for his disobedience Mr. B. being unusually rigorous and severe with his servants generally, the boy expected a whipnis servants generally, the boy expected a whip-ping, and ran out of the house to escape it. Mr. B. followed him closely, and calling a very fero-cious dog, (of the bull species.) started the animal in pursuit of the fugitive also. The dog soon overtook, and bit him very seriously before he was taken off. Mr. B. then tied the boy, and whipped and beat him so that he died in a few hours. These ARGEST AND MOST FASHIONABLE

DISCOVERY OF SILVER AND OTHER MINES .-It is stated that a silver mine has been recently discovered in Stanly county, N. C., which is believed to be immensely rich. The vein is said to be three and a half feet wide, and has thousands of sheets and lumps of silver all through it. It is estimated that the ore is worth from $1 50 to $3 for every eight pounds. Messrs. H. Crosby, Stuart & Co., have purchased the mine, and will proceed very soon to develop its

"A company of Philadelphia capitalists have commenced working the old silver mine in Conestoga township, about a mile and a half east of Conestoga Centre, Lancaster county, Pa. This mine was opened and worked to some extent prior to the revolution, but with what success is not known. It is stated that a few days ago an exceeding rich specimen of the argentiferous galena was obtained from the mine. This ore—a combination of silver and lead—is said to be worth $600 per ton. A lead mine in East Hempfield, in the same county, discovered about three years ago, is about to be tested again, and a copper mine in Bart township has been re-opened. Several very valuable bods of iron ore have recently been opened in different parts of the same county."

Madame Grisi and Signor Mario.—We understand that the intended visit of these celebrated artistes to the United States is postponed sine die. The cause assigned for this change of purpose is that the required funds, or satisfactory security for their production, not being forthcoming, Grisi and Mario "scratched" their engagement—if one ever existed. They will sing during the approaching winter at the Italiens, in Paris, of which Count. Ragani, the lady's uncle, is now the impresario.—London Sunday Times, Oct. 16.

Another Victim of the Rappings.—We have heard of another instance of the results of those singular phenomena, the facts of which we give to the public as they were toldus: Some nine months ago, a young man and woman, both residing in the town of Evans, in this country, received notice through one of the "mediums" in that town, that it was the will of "the powers that be" above that they should become man and wife forthwith. They were firm believers in the new dispensation, and, although scarcely acquainted with each other, immediately went before a justice, and were "coniolidated."

The woman, who had been well before, perhaps owing in a good degree to the influences which had obtained over her such complete control, continued to grow worse, and was placed under the care of a "spiritual" physician, who gave pre-scriptions hitherto unknown in the practice of command, and stretch herself upon the ground face downwards, and there remain for hours, as he at which the bloody transaction published by us a few months since occurred. From all we have > across her cheek with a slight pressure, a red spot was left, which gradually died out, as a rush of blood in the living body would follow in like cir-cumstance. Neither did the corpse show any symptoms of decay, but remained as it was the first day after death. She was buried at length, the physician and her spiritual friends quieting all doubts in their own minds by asserting that her spirit was too happy in the sphere where it had gone, to return again to cares and pains incident to a tabernaching in the flesh. This is but another instance of the deplorable results flowing from this system, if it can be so called, of error and wicked usion .- Buffalo Courter, Oct. 29.

James Sullivan, alias Yankee Sullivan, wa again brought before the court this morning on a writ of habeas corpus. He is in custody on a re writ of habeas corpus. He is in custody on a requisition from the governor of Massachusetts, endorsed by the governor of this State, charged with having violated the laws of Massachusetts.

Mr. James T. Brady was called into the defence with Mr. Phillips. Mr. N. B. Blunt, district attorney, appeared for the prosecution, and, before the case came to a hearing, convinced the counsel for Sullivan that the requisition was properly drawn and complied with; no defence was made.

Yankee then left the court in custody of Mr.

Bensel, deputy sheriff of New York, and Mr. Willis, deputy sheriff of Massachusetts, and was to leave for the offended State by the first conveyance, there to be dealt with according to its laws. Fraud by a Pawnbroker.—P. Friedenburg, a pawnbroker, doing business at No. 299 East Broadway, was yesterday arrested by officer Jarboa, of the Essex market police court, charged with exacting a greater amount of interest than allowed by law, viz.. 25 per cent, from James Meade, of 320 Front street. He charged him eighteen cents for the use of one dollar for five months. He was taken before Justice Welch, to whom he admitted the truth of the charge, but, in mitigation of punishment, put in the plea of having very high taxes, exhibiting at the same time a list of property which he owned, to the value of $20,000. He also said that frequently, in the course of his business, he would abate a few cents of his demands on his poorer customers. The magistrate fined him ten poorer customers. The magistrate fined him ten dollars, which he paid.—N. Y. Day Book, Nov. 4.

The party then proceeded to the residence of Mr. William Ward, corner of Baltimore and Aisquith streets, where he will remain during his brief stay in this city. The distinguished patriot had been tendered a public reception, but modestly declined it. Death of a Veteran Sailor.—Captain Hugh Graham died on Saturday at the advanced age of S1. It appears he took a teaspoonful of tincture of aconite, (a deadly poison,) in place of tincture of aloes, and died in an hour or two. He was once well known as the captain of the old Black Ball line of packets for Liverpool, from which he retired in 1837. Captain Graham commanded the Caledonia, Hibernia, Canada and other liners. He was once a midshipman in the British navy. The county court, it appears, had granted a change of venue, and as soon as the prisoner, in the custody of the sheriff, was brought out of the court-house, he was seized by the crowd, a rope was thrown around his neck, and he was hung to the most convenient tree. Narrow Escape.—On Friday morning last, be-tween nine and ten o'clock, Mr. Wm. Porter God sey, bar-keeper at the Arbor, had a narrow escape of his life. He had mounted his horse and was of his life. He had mounted his horse and was just starting to the fair grounds, when, on reaching the north flagging on 12th street, the horse slipped and fell, throwing him with much violence against the pavement. His activity and presence of mind alone saved him from being crushed, as the animal, upon which he was mounted, fell almost in the same spot with him. We are pleased to learn that his only injury is a few slight bruises.
